

You've lived in the concrete jungle.
Now try a pure natural forest.

300 acres of forest land are inviting you to be adopted. To join a community of people who love forests and are eager to blend in one. People who are looking for an antidote to the city, and are committed to a greener life. Forest by the Hills is a project for such birds of a feather. Every USP of the project is meant to ensure the sanctity of our forests. So if you love forests, read on: Forest by the Hills is a verdant expanse of forests nestled right next to the Tata Power Project. Abutting the hills, the forest is thickly populated by a diverse, but rich native flora and fauna. Its blessed by the rain gods in the monsoons and kissed by low hanging clouds who don't miss a chance to romance the hills.

The forests are nourished by streams which flow from waterfalls that offering picture-perfect views of the mountains. We are offering farmland starting with 1 acre plots to likeminded folks who love forests. The forest lovers commune is a gated community of nature lovers in a one-of-its-kind projects.
